Lawyer Jokes

A man walked into a lawyer's office and inquired about the lawyer's rates. "$50.00 for three questions", said the lawyer. "Isn't that awfully steep?" asked the man. "Yes," the lawyer replied, "and what was your third question?"

Q: What's the problem with lawyer jokes?

A: Lawyer's don't think they're funny, and no one else thinks they're jokes.

Thanksgiving Jokes

An entrepreneurial turkey farmer was always trying to breed the perfect bird. He knew everyone loved the leg portion for dinner, but there were never enough legs for everyone. After many attempts, the farmer was relating the results of his efforts to his friends. "Well I finally did it! I bred a turkey that has 6 legs!" They all asked the farmer how it tasted. "I don't know" said the farmer. "I never could catch the darn thing!"

Q: What smells the best at a Thanksgiving dinner?

A: Your nose.

Whether you are listening to the news, weather, or your favorite pop music station, almost everybody has the radio on at work and on their commute! Attorney Jeffrey Meldon weighs in...

In the fall of 2002 I started broadcasting a live radio legal affairs call-in show on WSKY.97.3FM. We called the show LAW TALK LIVE!. The concept was simple. I would go on the air and talk about topics relevant to my law practice as well as interview other lawyers in different areas of law. We also interview doctors, insurance experts, and anyone else who could help educate our audience about how to protect themselves and their families, both before and after an accident.

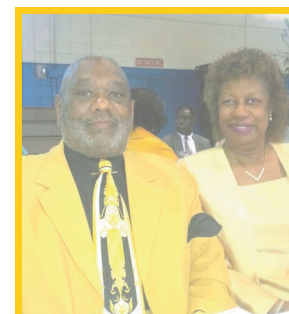

The show was originally co-hosted by myself and attorney Steve Rothenberg from Ocala. We had both worked on many cases together and it was a natural fit to discuss and review issues that we had dealt with in our work together as well as on cases we had worked on individually. Dr. Adrian Lewis from MEDIG was also a frequent guest who described what the treatment was like for people who suffered different kinds of injuries in a serious auto/truck crash. Tom Copeland and my son Carey Meldon have also filled in many times as hosts on the show.

We are now beginning our 14th year on the air and the show is the longest continuous running legal affairs show in the southeast United States. SKY has been an incredible partner to work with. Many times I will frequently call in from some remote location and the engineers at SKY will patch me into the show seamlessly.

It has been a blast to hear from our listeners on air and from the many people I run into around town who tell me how they are loyal listeners and look forward to LAW TALK LIVE every Saturday at 10:30 am on the SKY 97.3 FM. Thank you again for all your support!

This month's topic of interest: November 2015

Each month our staff takes a number of calls from people within the North Central Florida Community. Although we aren't always able to take every case we receive, there is always an opportunity to educate others. Here's a topic worth discussing.

Driving in Heavy Storms

Last June, Florida entered the 2015 Hurricane season. During the Summer months, Florida receives rain, rain, and more rain. Gainesville rainfall in July was more than two inches above normal. In August it was almost four inches above normal.

In Gainesville, some locations that are likely to flood are the entrance to the Robinlane subdivision in the 7500 block of Northwest 39th Avenue, the nearby Heatherwood subdivision and Northwest 69th Terrace, west of North Florida Regional Medical Center on Newberry Road. In Ocala, some locations that may experience problems are NE 39th Avenue north of Bonnie Heath Boulevard, Heritage Hills, and SW 6th Street between 17th Avenue and Martin Luther King Jr. Boulevard.

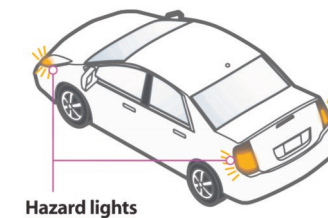

During heavy rainfall, the likelihood of flooding increases since rainfall will not be quickly absorbed into the ground. Additional rain becomes runoff, which leads to flooding, usually mostly in low-lying areas. It is extremely important for all Florida drivers to understand not only the implications of heavy rains, but also the safest way to operate a vehicle when driving in stormy conditions.

Florida law requires drivers to turn headlights on when it rains. Using headlights increases visibility on the roads. Motorcycle riders are required to keep their headlights on at all times. All drivers are encouraged to turn on their headlights even in light rain.

A little known fact is that, under Florida law, drivers may only turn on hazards if the driver has pulled over on the side of the road or stalled. Many drivers turn on their hazards when driving in heavy rains because they believe it will aid other drivers in seeing them. NEVER DO THIS! Hazard lights disable turning signal lights and make it difficult for drivers behind you to see your brake lights. If you feel unsafe driving in the rain, you should pull over to the side of the road. Once you are stationary, you may use your hazard lights.

In addition, be aware of the traction limitations caused by even light rain. If you are driving in the rain, leave room for extra braking time. Never drive if you are uncomfortable with driving conditions. In severe weather, it is best to wait before getting in the car. Meldon Law says stay dry and stay safe!
